Canada's Interest In Europe

For many generations back the people of Canada and the United States with but few exceptions held the view that they were but little concerned in the affairs of Europe and that what nations and people there might or might not do was of little importance to the residents of North America. Of course, news of affairs and those engaged in international trade and finance were better informed, but the great mass of people gave little heed to European questions and economics, except as matters of news appearing in the papers.

The Great War breaking with startling suddenness in 1914 was a rude awakening, and the humblest and most remote home on this continent was made to realize that the human family was one after all, and that what deep-affected the people in Europe was the immediate concern of all. Not merely during the war years but since the Armistice that lesson has been painfully impressed upon our people.

True, a certain school of political thought in the United States still seeks to maintain the old traditional policy of American aloofness from all participation in European politics and affairs, and they were powerful enough politically to keep the United States out of the League of Nations, and also strong enough to insist upon the big Republic a reserved declaration and tariff policy calculated to shut out as far as possible all foreign goods.

The more observant, far-seeing, and best informed people realize, however, that in these modern times of instantaneous communication and means of rapid transportation, no nation can live solely unto itself. In matters of trade, for example, it is not enough that the balance of production and consumption be fairly balanced in a country in order to maintain a condition of prosperity, but that there must be an economic equilibrium maintained throughout the world.

Production and consumption must go together if the balance is to be kept right.

Business goes on in the various productive elements are properly balanced, and when different kinds of things are produced in right proportions. A great producing country is also a great consuming country if its equilibrium is maintained. But the substantial overdevelopment or serious injury of any great industry throws the whole thing out of gear, and then depression and demoralization follow.

The world is suffering from such a situation today, because, on the whole, less is being produced than before the war, but there is a relative over-production of farm products and raw materials. This is due, not to conditions in America, but because of the fact that Europe, the world's great manufacturer, has been reduced to a state of virtual paralysis. The world's great market for farm products and raw materials, has partially withdrawn from her pre-war position. She is turning out very much less of manufactured goods than before the war. She is consequently unable to buy raw materials and farm products in normal volume from the United States and Canada.

As a result of this, a result there is depression not only in Europe but on this continent. We are, therefore, vitally interested in a revival of normal conditions in Europe and in everything that helps or retards it.

It is reasonable to expect improvement in Canada, even without improvement in Europe. This country, with its diversified industries, its wealth of resources, its great producing and consuming power, with its sound credit system, and its highly intelligent people, must forge ahead, and there, therefore, no occasion for pessimism or lack of courage. None the less, we cannot have really satisfactory business or anything approaching real prosperity until Europe is developed on the same scale and parcel of a great world economic system, and distress anywhere reacts on us.

Under these conditions there are those in Canada, as the enactment of the recent high tariff demonstrates there are many in the United States, who believe that a remedy is partly to be found in tariff enactments designed to protect ourselves. But the Hamiltonian made recently in a loud voice before the Missouri Bankers Association, having a bearing on this subject and are worthy of being quoted as explaining how vitally interested Canadians ought to be in the rehabilitation of Europe.

"Warning United States" farmers not to be misled into thinking that a protective tariff is going to benefit them, this student of economics said.

"Prices of wheat and cotton and hogs and other articles are determined, not in the domestic market, but in the great world market. Canadian wheat competes with American wheat quite as effectively at Liverpool as it does at Chicago, and with Chicago and Liverpool in cable communication a delivery of Canadian wheat at Liverpool will break the price at Chicago quite as effectively as if it came directly to Chicago. It does so good to keep Argentine wheat out of New York if that Argentine wheat can come to Liverpool and so limit the market for American wheat in Liverpool."

Which only goes to show how interdependent all countries are, whether of Europe or America.

Instead of fearing an inflow of goods from Europe to America, this economist declares it would be the most welcome thing that could come about because a revival of manufacturing industry in Europe would immediately create a demand for the raw materials of all other countries, resulting in a revival of our own export trade in all essential raw and material producing countries. With such a revival their capacity to absorb manufactured goods from America.

At the present time with farmers and producers of raw materials unable to sell on profitable terms, they are also unable to buy in normal quantity. As Europe at present can only buy raw materials in small quantities with manufactured goods, we must accept such payment for our surplus products as Europe can give.

The economist concludes, therefore, by concluding that if a real revival in Europe could be induced with a resultant revival on the part of our farmers and producers of raw materials, our domestic market for finished manufactures would also revive and our export trade would be much better off sharing an expanding market with European competitors, and would sell more goods and make larger profits, than they will by having a stagnant market exclusively to themselves.

German Coal Output Drops

Decrease Attributed to Reduced Number of Working Days

Coal production in the Ruhr district of Germany during the month of May, 1919, was 7,675,363 tons, as compared with 8,081,561 tons in May, and with 5,536,385 in June, 1912. Average daily production had fallen from 335,416 in June of the pre-war year to 210,444 last May and to 298,536 in June. The decrease from the earlier month is attributed to the reduced number of working days, the average daily production of June being about 15,800 tons lower than in May and 23,900 less than in March.

A Hundred Dollars Worth For Thirty-Five Cents

When you are awakened from a sound sleep by Crampe, when without a moment's warning pain springs upon you, if you then you would readily pay a hundred dollars for the quick relief you can secure from a thirty-cent bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Nothing like this to relieve Crampe, headache, neuralgia, and kindred ills. Nothing better for Neuritis, sciatica, and other nerve troubles. The price of Neuritis is fifty cents, no more, no less, in all stores where medicines are sold.

Aluminum Lost Hidden

The earth is one-thirteenth aluminum, yet this most abundant of metals was scarcely more than a curiosity in the industrial world of twenty-five years ago.

THE WAY TO BE WELL

Good Health Maintained Through Rich, Red Blood

There are many men and women who, every day, are suffering from weakness, during which time they are often times feel very well. They do not know that this is the result of their blood.

In the case of men, the blood is often strained, nerves are usually overworked, and the result is a general inability to face the anxieties of daily life.

As for women, her back aches, she is dizzy with sick headaches, and often has stabbing pains in the head. The only real health is all-weather health, and the secret of it is good, red blood and plenty of it. One way to keep the blood in good condition is to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is scarcely a nook or corner in Canada where someone will not be found who will tell you the reason they have had through the use of these pills. And the reason is that, through the improved condition of the blood they strengthen and tone up the nerves of vitality, enlivened mind and vigor, and at the same time have given new vigor to pale, delicate people who have had through the use of these pills in all run-down conditions.

This is shown by the statement of Mrs. Lawrence Brown, of Dallas, Tex., who says: "When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was in a very bad condition, and was unable to do any work. I was suffering from all the troubles that attend a run-down state of health. I had taken much medicine, but it did me no good, and as I had a family of small children, I was in a very bad condition. When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I felt that I had found the answer. I have saved me from prolonged misery. My health is restored, and I now keep the pills in the house for use as a safeguard."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Several Forms of Sugar

Many varieties of sugar are set, one sugar, maple and cane. Polling these, we have cane sugar under the name of glucose or dextrose, and the same in vegetables, fruits and honey. In a brownish powder we find it in lactose or milk sugar.

Lactose or milk sugar is another principal raw sugar, although it will never fill an important place in commerce. It exists in cow's milk, and plays an important part in nutrition.

It has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is armed against many ills. He will be able to cope with a cold, prevent one from becoming a fever, reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sore and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself.

Tragedy of Loneliness.—One of the great hardships of civilization is the fact that on very many men and women are slowly dying of the cancer of the soul known as loneliness. There is something terrible and magnificent about the loneliness of mid-ocean. There is something terrible but inspiring in the loneliness of a mountaintop. But loneliness in the midst of a crowd is one of the most dreadful tragedies to which humanity is heir.—London Daily Express.

From Past Experiences.—"If you go first," said the wife, "you'll wait for me on the other shore, won't you?" "I suppose so, dear," he sighed. "I've never gone anywhere yet where I didn't have to wait for you."

Long Distance Aerial Flight

Plan Aerial Race Around Edge of Civilized World For Next Year

Although planned as a pioneering flight, something in the nature of an aerial race around the edge of the civilized world will take place next year, possibly in the spring, according to Col. E. E. Brown, noted British aviator. He has completed arrangements for the flight between Canada and Japan, and has a complete map for the guidance of the aviators, with data on air harborage, trade winds, ocean conditions, fog and wind forecasts and storm actions.

Col. Brown predicts that three, if not two, machines will attempt the flight, which is being arranged by a syndicate of wealthy Old Country aeronauts for love of the sport and in the interests of aviation in general.

The brood party, it is expected, will fly from London, going through France and the Near East over the route followed by Major Hale, who was recently forced to abandon his world flight because of illness.

It is probable that the affair will be turned into a race, though that would be regretted, stated Col. Brown. The Air Ministry is likely to be represented, as well as one or more of the British aircraft manufacturers.

Whales Found on English Farm

May Have Ascended Small Stream With Outlet to the Sea

Farm hands digging celery on a farm near Peterborough, England, recently came upon the skeletons of two whales, dating back, it is supposed, 10,000 to 12,000 years. The whales were lying side by side under the peat, and it seemed in the clay. It is conjectured that many thousands years ago these whales, and perhaps others, swam up a creek, when the waste came further inland, and got caught at the top of a spring line in a place where they were unable to turn. Another theory has been advanced, though it is rather far-fetched: Some years ago a whaling boat was dug up at the same place, and the suggestion has been made that the crew of the boat was hunting the whales at that particular period.

Keep Minerva's Lament in the house

Costly Picture Framed in Milan

The frame that encloses "The Virgin and Child" at the Milan Cathedral is said to be the finest in the world. It is eight feet long and six feet wide, formed of hammered gold, with an inner moulding of lapis-lazuli. At the corners are hearts designed in large pearls and precious stones. This picture frame probably worth upwards of £50,000.

Says She Hasn't Felt So Well In Years

Mrs. Margaret Winton, highly respected resident of 719 Tenth Ave., West, Chicago, Alberta, says glowing things of Tanlac for the wonderful appetite, perfect digestion and splendid health she now enjoys.

"I just don't feel as good enough," she stated recently, "to show my appreciation of Tanlac for what it has done for me. Almost a year ago my appetite failed and my stomach became so disordered that nothing agreed with me. After every meal I would have severe pains in the pit of my stomach and bloated so badly I could scarcely draw a good breath. Whales Found on English Farm May Have Ascended Small Stream With Outlet to the Sea

Farm hands digging celery on a farm near Peterborough, England, recently came upon the skeletons of two whales, dating back, it is supposed, 10,000 to 12,000 years. The whales were lying side by side under the peat, and it seemed in the clay. It is conjectured that many thousands years ago these whales, and perhaps others, swam up a creek, when the waste came further inland, and got caught at the top of a spring line in a place where they were unable to turn. Another theory has been advanced, though it is rather far-fetched: Some years ago a whaling boat was dug up at the same place, and the suggestion has been made that the crew of the boat was hunting the whales at that particular period.

Bar B Ranch,
September 4-19—

Steeh making my last entry I have had two new experiences.

Number one: I forded the Banashe River.

Number two: I dined, chaparron of course, in a bachelor establishment of the most barbequish sort. While we were having luncheon on Friday Mr. Bingham told us that he was going to the Paget ranch during the afternoon, and that we, Mr. Bingham, Sunny, and I might, go with him if we wished. You will notice that he did not ask us to go, but merely intimated that he would tolerate our company. But we were so indifferent an invitation is not enough to discourage Mr. Bingham in his search after something to break the monotony of ranch life. And I, too, am learning to tolerate Mr. Bingham's manner from his motive.

My only hesitation was a fear that Mr. Paget might not care to have us drop in on him unexpectedly, but Mr. Bingham soon reassured me on this point. Mr. Paget had often asked us to return some of his numerous calls, but I find it very hard to become used to the Indian's manner of life. I seemed very strange to come down on him like a bolt on the 50th. Of course we should stay for dinner after getting such a distance, and suppose he could not have enough to go around? Even the best of housekeepers at home are embarrassed by unbidden guests, and a mere man—words fall me to picture his probable confusion if my luncheon party pictured him.

Mr. Paget's ranch is on the west side of the river, and the crossing of the ford was an ordeal. I must confess, I hope I am not a coward—but when the horses seemed to be making so headway against the stream, and the water splashed into the wagon box, it took all my nerve to encourage me to appear unconcerned. We crossed the river gully with an uneasy feeling, as if we were being carried down stream. Either because he was used to an exhibition of "nerves" on the part of women crossing the ford for the first time, or because he noticed that I was not speaking, Mr. Bingham stopped in mid-stream and turned around in his seat long enough to say to me, "Don't watch the water, Miss Elliot, look at the horses' heads, or at some point on the far bank of the river." I followed his advice, and found that it was good; the sinking, floating sensation left me—but not the fear of what would happen should we miss the ford. I was sincerely glad to feel that good solid earth under my again when we reached the shore.

Sunny and I heaved sighs of relief in concert as we were out of the water. I did wish Uncle Lee would build a bridge like they have in Winnipeg, said Sunny. And when he asked him, and asked him, but he never does. That said, the food makes me feel like when I'm dreadfully hungry, and when Mary took me down in the elevator at last on I felt exactly the same way."

Sunny has her sensations more carefully classified than I. The three feelings are very much alike, but not occurred to me.

As the crowd files it cannot be more than three or four miles from the Bar B to Paget Park. But it is ten miles by the road, which follows the winding of the river all the way, and it was after four o'clock when we reached our destination.

Mr. Paget, in white ducks, met us at the door and conducted Mrs. Bingham and me to the house. He was a tall, thin man, I suppose I should call it, and then with Mr. Bingham to pull up the horses.

I am sorry that it was not dark at the time, for just as we were leaving Paget Park I had a glimpse of the rainy side of ranch life. A small herd of thoroughbred Paints were standing near the trail, and Mr. Bingham had stopped the horses to let them admire them. Of course I had never seen such horses, and was very interested to see them. The horses were standing near the trail, and Mr. Bingham had stopped the horses to let them admire them. ## Safety Vault Defies Burglars

Great Storehouse in London, England, Is Not Wonderfully Convulsed

One of the most wonderful storehouses of treasure possessions is in London, England, and is known as the Chancery Lane Safe Deposit.

For a fee of from a guinea upwards anyone can store his or her belongings in the Deposit, which is so constructed and guarded that no burglar, however clever he may be, could ever hope to break into it.

The 10,000 safes which the Deposit contains are protected more elaborately even than the Crown Jewels or the bullion at the Bank of England.

The basement of the building is divided into a series of strong rooms, each of which holds 500 safes. No safe can be opened except in the presence of the depositor and an official of the Deposit.

The strong rooms weigh 60 tons apiece, and their locks are set to open only at a given hour in the day.

Each strong room is detached from its neighbors, so that an armed patrol can walk below, above and around it, mirrors reflecting every movement in the vicinity.

In addition to these precautions, the whole of the outer shell of the Deposit is specially reinforced with arm-pitted armor. A pretty tough proposition!

Some of the safes contain incredible sums, running into millions. The diamond merchants of Hatton Garden nearly depose millions of pounds' worth of precious gems in the course of a day.

Probably $15,000,000 is not too high an estimate of the value of the contents of the building at the present time.

A hundred years ago the proposal to use gun for street lighting was proposed in New England on the ground that artificial illumination was an attempt to interfere with the divine scheme of things which had ordained that it should be dark at night.

Beauty spots in Western Canada are not only to be found in the Rocky Mountains and on the Pacific Coast, but here and there along the Canadian Pacific Railway. Flowers in a riot of color adorn the station grounds throughout the entire system, but those on the Lines always evoke favorable comment from the thousands of tourists who travel through the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia. The Canadian Pacific has made a specialty of flower gardens, and so that particular branch of work has almost reached perfection. Over 150,000 packages of seeds and 1,000,000 bulbs are sent each spring to stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The designing and work of these gardens is under the direction of G. A. B. Kook, B.Sc., Canadian Pacific Railway Horticulturist, Moose Jaw, Sask.

From our own Correspondent

Miss Della Brundage who is attending Normal School at Calgary spent the week end with her parents.

Mr. L. Webb and family motored last week to Washington where they will spend the winter.

In the windows of the Drug Store last week there were some lovely samples of Potatoes weighing 2 1/2 lbs. each, and carrots that weighed nearly 2 lbs. each, they were grown by Dr. McPhail in Burdett. The doctor sure is some good gardener to produce vegetables like those.

Mrs. Frazer entertained the United Ladies Aid on Thursday afternoon at her home south of town about 20 ladies being present, after the refreshments music and singing was enjoyed by all the President Mrs. Henderson expressed her great appreciation of the program arranged by the ladies.

Dr. and Mrs. McPhail were business visitors to Bow Island yesterday, Thursday.

Mr. K. Brown who has been occupying rooms at the hotel for so long has bought Mr. W.O. Lyon's house and is moving in.

Mrs. E. Brown and family left last week for Nelford, where she will join her husband who has taken over the management of one of Mr. Noble's farms.

Miss Edith Sandy who is attending High School at Lethbridge spent the week end with her parents here.

Crop Report

Reports are that about ninety per cent of the Threshing in the Province is completed, and the threshers return have commenced to come in. Taking these first returns as a whole, they are disappointing, and indicate that the Moderate Crop Estimate made a few weeks ago by Dominion and Provincial offices was much too high.

From the figures before us, the estimate of 18 bushels of Wheat per acre has only been reached by the averages of the south western section of the province. So far other sections reporting are away below this figure, the average being between 1 to 7 bushels of wheat per acre.

The estimate of the Oat yield is also shown to be much too high, and the threshing returns would indicate that an average yield of 10 to 12 bushels would be about the figure. The whole Oat Crop of Alberta will be much under that of the past few years on account of Drought conditions, in some parts of the province in the forepart of the summer, with prospects of short feed crop, much of the oats were cut for green feed.

The first damaging frost came to province about the 10th. of the month. This has given Alberta a particularly long crop season, with the result that in the south portion of the province, just a few areas of oats sown late for green feed have matured and will be threshed. Taking advantage of continued good weather considerable fall plowing is being done. The root and vegetable crop was poor and not nearly so heavy as in recent years, but is being harvested in good condition.

Mr. S. Bull was a visitor to Etzikom on Wednesday returning the same day with Mr. Harper the well driller, who will commence drilling a well for Mr. Bull.

One thing indicated by the threshers returns from all sections, is that in a season of such peculiar climate conditions, as we have had in 1922, that Summerfalling and Good Farming have brought the best results. And there have been quite a number of complete Crop Failures this year, even with good farming.
